

Evelien Gevers is a Consultant Paediatric Endocrinologist and Clinical Lead at Barts Health Trust – Royal London Hospital and a Senior Lecturer in The Centre for Endocrinology at Queen Mary University of London. She has over 25 years' experience in endocrinology. She covers the full spectrum of paediatric endocrine disorders and diabetes and specializes in growth, bone and pituitary disorders which are her research interests. She is a member of the British Adolescent and Paediatric Bone Group (BAPBG), the National Working Group for Type 2 Diabetes and the Science Committee of the European Society for Paediatric Endocrinology (ESPE). She is also an NIHR Principal Investigator and involved in multiple clinical research trials.